Course Description

ENC 2210 (Technical Writing) is an introduction to technical and professional writing in contemporary workplace environments. This course presents you with practical information about and practice in communicating within different kinds of professional/technical discourse communities.

Throughout the semester, you will produce and analyze common technical writing genres, including emails, letters, resumes, memos, reports, proposals, technical descriptions, definitions, instructions, proposals, and reports.

We will work toward understanding how to analyze and react to the rhetorical situations each genre and writing situation presents, including issues of audience, organization, visual design, usability, accessibility, and the material production of documents. In addition, the course will help you navigate the challenges of setting career goals and determining priorities, as well as develop problem solving skills that are needed in today's technologically driven workplace.

Course Objectives and Outcomes

General Education Objectives

This course confers General Education credit for Composition (C), and also fulfills 6,000 of the university's 24,000-word writing requirement (WR).

- Composition courses provide instruction in the methods and conventions of standard written English (grammar, punctuation, usage), as well as the techniques that produce effective texts. Composition courses are writing intensive.
- Course content includes multiple forms of effective writing, different writing styles, approaches and formats, and methods to adapt writing to different audiences, purposes, and contexts.
- The University Writing Requirement (WR) ensures students both maintain their fluency in writing and use writing as a tool to facilitate learning. To receive Writing Requirement credit, a student must receive a grade of C or higher and a satisfactory completion of the writing component of the course.

General Education Learning Outcomes:

At the end of this course, you will be expected to have achieved the following learning outcomes in content, communication, and critical thinking:

- Content: demonstrated competence in the terminology, concepts, theories, and methodologies used within the academic discipline.
- Communication: communicated knowledge, ideas, and reasoning clearly and effectively in written and oral forms appropriate to the discipline.
- Critical Thinking: analyzed information carefully and logically from multiple perspectives, used discipline-specific methods, and developed reasoned solutions to problems.

Additional Objectives and Outcomes

By the end of the course, you will be able to:

- Identify and understand the facets and functions of the primary genres of technical writing, including letters, memos, emails, resumes, reports, proposals, technical descriptions, technical instructions, and reports.
- Produce professional caliber technical documents, such as those listed above.
- Analyze and adapt to the constraints of specific rhetorical situations, including audiences, purposes, and uses.
- Develop strategies for addressing multiple audiences in any given technical document, including accommodations for expert and lay audiences.
- Write documents that are accessible and reader-centered.
- Strategically orchestrate elements of document design and layout, including type, spacing, color, and medium.
- Integrate tables, figures, and other images into documents as necessary.
- Refine writing style for clarity, concision, coherence, cohesion, and emphasis.
- Critique and revise your own documents to ensure that they fulfill their purposes.

Materials Needed

All materials are free and will be posted to Canvas. Our primary texts will be the following, both of which are open-access:

- Technical Writing by Allison Gross; Annemarie Hamlin; Billy Merck; Chris Rubio; Jodi Naas; Megan Savage; and Michele DeSilva
- Introduction to Technical and Professional Communication: Technical Communication through a Social Justice Lens by Brigitte Mussack

Communication and Office Hours

The best way to get ahold of me is via Canvas messenger. I'll reply to any questions or concerns within 24 hours. Likewise, it is absolutely critical that you actively monitor your inbox and our course website for changes or news from me. I'll be holding regular office hours this semester on Thursday (10:00AM—12:00PM), but I am also flexible to meet outside of this set time. Just let me know when you'd like to talk—I'll make it happen.

Grading and Evaluation

Earning A's and B's at this level requires strong, consistent effort. An online learning environment, especially an asynchronous one such as this, further necessitates the need for consistency and ongoing engagement. Your assignments will include specific evaluation criteria, and I will provide detailed feedback on your work that illuminates progress, achievement, and areas for revision. In the past, students who have received A's put significant time and effort into this course right from the start and simply kept at it. Be realistic in your expectations about grades; start assignments early and work steadily to avoid last-minute rushing.

This course confers General Education credit for either Composition (C) and also fulfills 6,000 of the university's 24,000-word writing requirement (WR). To satisfy this requirement, every major project's word count must be fulfilled in your assignment's final copy. Submitted assignments that fail to reach the minimum word count will receive a score of zero.

A 90-100	The qualities of a B project, plus imagination, originality, and engaging expression . The work exhibits depth of thought, command of language, and a keen eye for communicating through the selected medium.
B 80-90	A sufficient, thorough execution of the assignment's objectives. The work demonstrates coherent organization, ample supporting details, and a clear expression of ideas.
C 70-80	A satisfactory fulfillment of the assignment's objectives, with baseline organization and style. A "C" means your work met the demands of the assignment in a minimally acceptable way.
D 60-70	The presence of a significant defect in context, substance, organization, style, or delivery in a lackluster paper; the project demonstrates an inadequate treatment of the assignment.

F 0-59	Inadequate coverage of essential points; uncertain or misguided purpose; poor organization; ineffective and inconsistent expression; significant defects in standard usage.

Note: you must also pass this course with a “C” or better to satisfy the General Education requirement for Composition and to receive the 6,000-word University Writing Requirement credit. A grade of “C-” will not confer credit for the University Writing Requirement or the CLAS Composition Requirement.

Attendance

This is a fully asynchronous, online course. As such, there is no official attendance policy. That being said, you are required to complete all tasks by their listed due dates as they appear on Canvas. Late work is marked off by 10% for each 24 hours it is late.

Academic Honesty and Integrity

Plagiarism is a serious violation of the UF Student Honor Code. Detecting it is often fairly easy—all of your major assignments are sent into a copyright analysis system—and once found, violations are automatically reported to the Academic Dean. UF’s Honor Code prohibits plagiarism and defines it as follows:

“A student shall not represent as the student’s own work all or any portion of the work of another. Plagiarism includes but is not limited to 1. Stealing, misquoting, insufficiently paraphrasing, or patchwriting. 2. Self-plagiarism, which is the reuse of the student’s own submitted work, or the simultaneous submission of the student’s own work, without the full and clear acknowledgment and permission of the faculty to whom it is submitted. 3. Submitting materials from any source without proper attribution.”

You are responsible for reading, understanding, and abiding by the entire Student Conduct & Honor Code, found here: <https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/students/student-conduct-code/>. Understanding what falls under the category of plagiarism and academic dishonesty will help prevent you from committing these acts inadvertently—and will also strengthen your own writing! “I didn’t know!” is not an excuse, and will not be counted as one, so ask if you’re unsure.

Diversity Affirmation

The University of Florida does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, age, ethnicity, religion, national origin, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, sex, marital status, disability, or status as a U.S. veteran. Effective learning environments value and support diversity, and free, open discussion is a hallmark of a functioning democratic society.

Disability Affirmation

The University of Florida complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Those requesting accommodation should contact the Disability Resource Center: 001 Reid Hall. That office will provide documentation to you and then you provide this to me. For more information, see: <https://disability.ufl.edu/>.

Sexual Harassment Policy

The University of Florida is committed to providing a safe educational, working, and residential environment that is free from sexual harassment or misconduct directed towards any and all members of the community. For more information, see: <https://titleix.ufl.edu/about/title-ix-rights/>.

Grade Appeals

Students may appeal a final grade by filling out a form available from Carla Blount (cblount@ufl.edu), Program Assistant, in the Department office (4008 Turlington). Grade appeals may result in a higher, unchanged, or lower final grade.

Course Evaluations

You'll have the opportunity to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. You will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email you receive from GatorEvals, in your Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>.
