I. Course Information

Course Description

This course addresses the pressing question “what we can do to mitigate the effects of Linguistic Prejudice?” To do so, students will first explore what linguistic prejudice is and who it affects. Linguistic Prejudice is directed against people who speak with a “nonstandard” accent or grammar and is used to discriminate against groups based on race, ethnicity, gender identity/orientation, geographic location, linguistic background, and socio-economic status. This course explores the relationships between language varieties and prejudice and their real-world consequences, such as discrimination in education, housing, careers, healthcare, interactions with the justice system, etc. Readings on research and methodologies from linguistics, sociology, and psychology provide students with the terms and tools to describe, analyze, and respond to linguistic prejudice. We will examine the prevalence of linguistic prejudice and its impacts, reflect on our own beliefs and behaviors, interview others about their attitudes, and work together to develop potential techniques to reduce the pervasiveness of linguistic prejudice and mitigate its effects.

[Supplemental Readings available in Canvas (free); see course schedule for complete list.]

Materials and supplies fees: none

2. List of Graded Work

Assignment	Description	Points
Attendance	Attendance will be taken at the discussion section meetings (Fridays). You are allowed 1 "personal day" for the semester, after which each absence that does not meet university criteria for "excused" results in a 4-point deduction.	40
Exercises (6)	Each exercise requires you to reflect on your own experience with and attitudes toward non-standard language/accents; some also require gathering information from other people or try an experiment. These also form the basis for discussion in class or section (250-300 words, 2-3 paragraphs)	300 (@50)
Tests (2)	Each test will be one class period, the first covering Weeks 1-6 (Oct 2 nd) and the second covering weeks 1-12 (Nov. 13 th). Each will be composed of definitions, multiple choice questions, short answer questions, and/or a short essay.	270 (120+150)
Reading Response (1)	In the list of supplementary articles, 4 are marked RR; choose one and write a Reading Response, due by midnight the day before we discuss the article. Responses should be about 2 pages (500-600 words), and a) summarize the main point(s) b) discuss how it relates to material in the textbook or from class & c) provide reactions to the article (both personal and professional). You are expected to use the terminology from the class to discuss the article.	80
Discovering Examples (1)	You will find and document an example of linguistic prejudice in the wild. These can be video/audio clips, articles from written media (newspapers, blogs), or a narrative video describing a personal experience. Examples should be posted to a discussion board on Canvas and accompanied by a short (100-150 words) statement of how the example illustrates linguistic prejudice as discussed in the course. These can be posted any time but must be posted by Nov. 3 th .	50
Group Project/ Poster Presentation	Groups of 3-4 students identify a set of speakers targeted by linguistic prejudice & some documented negative outcome of linguistic discrimination and propose steps towards mitigation. [I provide a list of topics; you can request your preferred topics and I'll organize groups or you may propose your own topics & groups, with my approval]. Submit requests for proposed groups by Nov. 10 th . We have in-class prep time Nov 20 th and poster presentations during the final section meeting (Dec. 1). Posters due midnight before your presentations (Nov 30 th).	80
Final project paper	Each student will individually write up their group project providing (a) the background on a documented prejudice and/or discrimination towards some set of speakers (2-3 pages) (b) a proposal for reduction of prejudice or mitigation of its discriminatory effects (3-5 pages) and (c) a discussion of the relationship of the proposal to other proposals for mitigations and their ethical bases (1-2 pages) (d) appropriate references) Total: 7-10 pages plus references, 1800-2200 words). Due Dec 14 th , 7:30pm	180

III. Grading

Statements on Attendance and Participation

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/attendance-policies/>

Attendance: will be taken at the discussion section meetings (Fridays). You are allowed one (1) “personal day” for the semester, after which each absence that does not meet university criteria for “excused” results in a 4-point deduction from your attendance grade.

Participation: is expected and will enhance your experience of the course. While not directly counted in your grade, actively participating in class will contribute to your understanding of the material and will enable you to improve your performance on the tests, reading responses, and final projects.

Diversity Statement: “I consider this classroom to be a place where you will be treated with respect, and I welcome individuals of all ages, backgrounds, beliefs, ethnicities, genders gender identities, gender expressions, national origins, religious affiliations, sexual orientations, ability – and other visible and nonvisible differences. All members of this class are expected to contribute to a respectful, welcoming, and inclusive environment for every other member of the class.” (borrowed from the American Society for Engineering Educations Committee on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion).

Students are encouraged to employ critical thinking and to rely on data and verifiable sources to interrogate all assigned readings and subject matter in this course as a way of determining whether they agree with their classmates and/or their instructor. No lesson is intended to espouse, promote, advance, inculcate, or compel a particular feeling, perception, viewpoint or belief.

Grading Scale

For information on how UF assigns grade points, visit: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/grades-grading-policies/>

Grading:	930-1000 = A	900-929 = A-	870-899 = B+	830-869 = B
	800-829 = B-	770-799 = C+	730-769 = C	700-729 = C-

A minimum grade of C is required for Quest and General Education credit. Courses taken for satisfying Quest and General Education requirements cannot be taken S-U.

IV. Required Policies

Students Requiring Accommodation

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center by visiting <https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/>. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment." The Honor Code (<https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructors in this class.

UF Evaluations Process

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

Counseling and Wellness Center

Contact information for the Counseling and Wellness Center: <http://www.counseling.ufl.edu/cwc/Default.aspx>, 392-1575; and the University Police Department: 392-1111 or 9-1-1 for emergencies.

UF Policy on Recording

"Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A "class lecture" is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To "publish" means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code."

V. GenEd and Quest: Objectives & Learning Outcomes

This Course in the Quest 2 Curriculum Fulfills the Social & Behavioral Science (S) and Diversity (D) General Education Requirements.

Quest 2 Course Objectives & Learning Outcomes: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-programs/general-education/#ufquesttext>

General Education Social & Behavioral Science, Diversity Objectives & Outcomes: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-programs/general-education/#objectivesandoutcomestext>

VI. This course: Objectives & Learning Outcomes

THESE QUEST & GENERAL EDUCATION OBJECTIVES WILL BE ACCOMPLISHED THROUGH:

- examining/discussing research literature both for methodologies and for their findings
- reading/responding to a variety of articles illustrating linguistic diversity among groups based on race, ethnicity, gender, orientation, and geographic origin, as well as discussions with classmates of their diverse experiences.
- examining/discussing research documenting the role of schools, media and other institutions in creating and enforcing linguistic prejudice and discrimination
- interviewing others, discussing with classmates, and reflecting on your own about attitudes and experiences of judging others by the way they speak
- responding to research and experiences involving linguistic prejudice, both orally and in written responses including discussion exercises and reading response assignments.
- responding to research on social inequities enacted by linguistic prejudice in education, housing, careers, interactions with the judicial system, etc. and developing proposals for mitigating the impact of linguistic prejudice in your own lives, institutions, and society.
- discussing the ethical implications of linguistic prejudice/ discrimination and proposals for mitigation

During this course, students are assessed on Q2/S/D student learning outcomes in Content, Critical Thinking, Communication, and Connection.

1) Content SLOs

- Identify, describe, and explain the historical development of linguistic variation and how variation is used as a force for linguistic prejudice and discrimination in the US, with attention to the intersections of race, ethnicity, gender, geography and other identity categories.
- Identify, describe, and explain linguistic diversity as a dynamic concept related to human differences and their intersections, such as race, ethnicity, gender identity, sexual orientation, and geographic and linguistic origins.

Achievement of this learning outcome will be assessed through:

- Reading responses, exercises, discovering examples, tests, group project presentation, final paper

2) Critical Thinking SLOs

- Analyze and evaluate methodologies from linguistics, sociology, anthropology and psychology used to document how linguistic variation is used for linguistic prejudice and discrimination in the US.
- Analyze and evaluate how social inequities are constructed, as linguistic prejudice impacts discrimination in the US in education, the workplace, housing, healthcare, the judicial system, etc.
- Analyze and reflect on the way different linguistic ideologies mediate understandings of an increasingly linguistically diverse US society.

Achievement of this learning outcome will be assessed through:

- Reading responses, tests, group project presentation, final project paper

3) Communication

- Develop and present, both in writing and orally, proposals to reduce linguistic prejudice and mitigate its effects on some part of our society.

Achievement of this learning outcome will be assessed through:

- Group project presentation, Final project paper

4) Connection (Q2 only)

- Connect course content with their own personal, intellectual and professional development through critical reflection on their own linguistic prejudice and how the prejudices of others impact their lives, society, and professions.

Achievement of this learning outcome will be assessed through:

- Discovering Examples, exercises, reading responses
